Reflective Learning Log

Day One

Activity 1: Compass Check

The space below is for your private reflections on your understanding of the Droichead process:

Where am I now?

What energises me?

What will support me?

What wisdom
will sustain me in the role?

Activity 2: Exploring the Droichead Policy

When you read through the following section of the Droichead policy, what words, phrases, or ideas stand out most to you? Why?

Record your thoughts in the space provided

The Droichead process is an integrated professional induction framework for newly qualified teachers... it recognises that induction is a distinct phase of the continuum.Droichead supports NQTs as they transition from ITE and are welcomed by peers into the profession... to address the needs of teachers as they begin their careers. The purpose of the Droichead process is to support the professional learning of the NQTs during the induction phase, thus laying the foundations for subsequent professional growth and learning. Following the Droichead process, a declaration is made by the NQT that [they are] ready to move to the next phase on the continuum of teacher education. A joint declaration is made by the teacher and experienced colleagues, following collective reflection, that through their engagement in Droichead, they have participated in a quality teaching and learning process. There are two key strands of the Droichead process as an integrated induction framework... The first strand is a school-based induction one (Strand A), through which the NQT is supported by experienced colleagues. The second strand is made up of additional professional learning activities (Strand B), which involves attendance at NQT cluster meetings. The strand also includes one other professional learning activity, related to the needs of the NQT, as discussed with their Professional Support Team. (Teaching Council 2025, p. 4-5)	Additional Notes

Activity 3: The Value of Supporting NQTs

Based on your reading, what benefits does mentoring provide?

Excerpt 1

DQA Panel Report (2022)

5.7.2 In nearly half of schools visited NQTs got an opportunity to observe above the minimum of two observations set out in policy. Observations are a fundamental element of the Droichead policy and NQTs recognised that this was of notable benefit to their professional development. In five schools, NQTs spoke about how observations provided them with reassurance and gave them confidence in their practice.

5.7.6 The impact of observations was multi-faceted and mutually beneficial, some of the benefits identified were:

- In almost all schools visited, observations were based on NQTs' needs. NQTs felt that their practice was affirmed and, as a result, they gained confidence. NQTs perceived the observation of colleagues as important and reported gained a great deal from observing more experienced teachers.
- Notably, NQTs spoke about the value of observing a more experienced teacher teach their class group as very beneficial. Some NQTs noted that they would like an opportunity to engage in more observations. One PST member also reported that "it can be even more beneficial for an experienced teacher to go in and teach in the NQTs class, because she could be trying to juggle behaviour management, special needs, differentiation, and teach her lesson. She can see the experienced teacher doing all of them and dealing with her children".

Excerpt 2

DEEPEN Report (2021)

It is understood and agreed globally that... the support of a mentor and opportunities to collaborate with other teachers, observe other teachers and attend professional development programmes with other teachers (Kearney, 2014).

‘Professional conversations’ were seen as being most worthwhile, followed by the ‘professional learning activity’ and ‘observations’ process. When the PST members provided constructive feedback, advice, guidance and shared knowledge in a spirit of collaboration and collegiality, the NQTs felt that Droichead provided a firm foundation for their teaching career.

PST members... are ‘critical friends’, or ‘anamchairde (advisors)’ and role models for NQTs, not only in terms of curriculum and pedagogy, but more importantly as professional role models who embody and exemplify the role of a professional teacher. PST members consider that the most effective use of time allocated to Droichead is in relation to ‘Observation by NQTs of other teachers’ practice’ followed by ‘Professional conversations with the PST’.

...School leaders consider their participation in the PST to be an integral part of their role... it affords them opportunities to support, mentor and help NQTs, to get to know the staff and to ensure a management input into the mentoring of NQTs.

Helms-Lorenz et al., (2016) reported that it is the quality of the mentoring, and not the duration, that leads to the growth of positive dispositions and skills.

NQTs report that when ample communication is afforded, they feel valued and appreciated as colleagues.

A Teacher's Guide to Effective Mentoring (2017)

Mutual benefits of mentoring

There are potentially many benefits of mentoring for both mentor and new teacher as well as benefits for the school, the system and the profession. Having opportunities to offer deep, practical knowledge, both pedagogical content and experience, can be a very rewarding and mutually beneficial aspect of effective mentoring.

Other significant benefits include:

- an increase in the rate of professional growth, self-reflection and problem solving capacity for both mentor and new teacher
- an increase in confidence, self-esteem, morale and sense of identity
- opportunities for learning new skills, teaching strategies and communication techniques, including how to engage in rigorous evidence-informed conversations
- a greater sense of inclusion or reduced feelings of isolation
- opportunities for close collaboration, shared challenges and the sense of achievement that comes from successfully working through such challenges
- learning from frequent opportunities to talk about teaching and learning, students, strategies and successes as well as challenge
- opportunities to capture and analyse evidence of student learning, leading to professional insights for both the mentor and new teacher
- developing a sense of belonging, as a contributor to the school and its community.

Activity 4: Considering Professional Practice

How do we, as teachers, demonstrate our professional practice?

Engagement in Professional Learning Activities and School-Based Induction
Commitment to Quality Teaching and Learning
Engagement with Reflective Practice Individually
Engagement with Reflective Practice Collaboratively

Activity 6: Professional Conversations and Induction Activities

Use the boxes below to reflect on professional conversations and induction activities.

What aspects of school life and/or professional practice might an NQT bring to a 'professional conversation'?

1. Communication with parents
2. Extending learning opportunities for exceptionally-abled students

What would be indicators of good practice?

1. Teachers use parent-teacher meetings and other communication with parents constructively to support parents' meaningful involvement in their children's education (LAOS 2022, p.33)
2. Teachers are aware of students' individual learning needs, interests and abilities, and adapt learning and teaching practices accordingly (LAOS 2022, p.32)

How might school context impact/influence the induction activities?

1. The school has a specific communication policy which includes use of digital communication platforms and information about parent-teacher meetings
2. Each subject policy include guidelines for working with exceptionally able students

What would be appropriate Induction Activities to support the NQT in this scenario?

Activity 7: Building Professional Relationships

What are the elements of an effective professional relationship?

Professional relationships are most effective when...

Follow the instructions of the facilitator...

What Additional Professional Learning Activity could Fiona attend?

Activity 10: Day One Reflection

What are your key takeaways about:

1. The Droichead Process
2. The Role of the PST
3. Empowering NQTs

- 1.The Droichead Process
- 2.The Role of the PST
- 3.Empowering NQTs

Activity 11: Observing the Lesson

Topic: The Causes of World War I Focus of Observation: Questioning Techniques

A final task was planned for students to construct a short argument on which cause they believed was most significant, but postponed due to time constraints. Fiona explained that this would be picked up in the next lesson.

Based on your reading of the lesson description, answer the questions below.

Considering the focus of the lesson (questioning techniques), what would you like to discuss with Fiona following this lesson?

What are the strengths in Fiona's practice?

What areas are there for development?

How would you discuss those areas for development with Fiona?

What area/s would you prioritise? Why?

Activity 12: Post-observation Role Play

Imagine you are the PST who is supporting “Fiona”.
Use the questions below to engage in a post-observation discussion.

How do you think the lesson went?
Why do you say so?

What worked well?

What did you consider when preparing this lesson? (Context)

Were there any surprises?

Were any elements of the lesson more or less engaging?

Do you think the needs of the learners were met? How do you know?

What did you learn from teaching that class/lesson?

If you could teach this again, what, if anything, would you do differently?
Why?

Activity 14: Putting Theory into Practice

Read the scenario assigned and discuss how you would approach the situation described.

Group 1

1

The principal informs the PST that an additional NQT will be joining the staff in January. Currently, there are two PST members supporting five NQTs.

A fellow staff member asks:
“After the NQT observed my class, they had questions about differentiation but is that your role to support them?”

5

A PST member has noted that after two observations the NQT is not taking on board the advice and support given.

6

An NQT approaches a PST member to say that they overheard another PST member discussing their classroom practice with other staff members.

3

An NQT says: “I missed a Focused Cluster Meeting in Term 1. What are my options?”

4

The Deputy Principal doesn't have a substitute teacher to cover a PST member's class for their scheduled NQT observation this afternoon.

7

A PST member receives a question from an NQT: "What's the best way to approach my first parent teacher meeting? I want to make it meaningful, but I'm not sure where to start."

8

NQT: I think I'll use our school closure PLE day as my one other professional learning activity for Strand B?

Appendix 1: Case Study (Post-primary)

Fiona is a newly qualified teacher who has recently started her first teaching position in your school. She has a contract for 13 hours per week for the full school year and will be teaching History. As a member of the PST, you will be supporting Fiona and have arranged a meeting to collaboratively draft the outline plan with her.

A few weeks into the school year, Fiona approaches you to ask for support with choosing her "One Other Professional Learning Activity" as part of Strand B of the Droichead process. She explains that she is unsure what would be suitable and mentions that she's interested in integrating more collaborative learning activities into her lessons. However, she would like some guidance around identifying a relevant professional learning activity.

Fiona has three weeks left in the school and is anxious to complete the Droichead process during this time. Several meetings with the PST have been rescheduled or cancelled during the year for a variety of reasons.

The members of the PST are satisfied that Fiona has engaged in the process, however they feel she has not sufficiently progressed. Therefore, they are not happy to sign the joint declaration. Fiona disagrees as she feels she has completed all required elements of the process.
